UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI
WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI

GREETINGS FROM THE RECTOR

Pleased to meet you!

Internationalisation is a hot topic for practically all universities today, especially ones that are research driven, like the University of Helsinki. Moving from one place to another across borders can be both exciting and somewhat stressful... this I know.

I do hope you find these instructions helpful and that you quickly settle into Helsinki and the stimulating intellectual community of the University. Together we are going places, and I would very much like to welcome you to this exciting academic journey. On behalf of the University of Helsinki I am extremely happy to have you on board!

IMMIGRATION

NORDIC CITIZEN
Citizens of Nordic countries must register with the local register office within one week from arrival in Finland when staying in Finland for more than six months.

EU CITIZEN
All citizens of EU or EEA countries or Switzerland staying in Finland for more than three months need to register their stay at the local police. Right of residence needs to be registered at a local police station in person within three months from arrival.

NON-EU/EEA CITIZEN
Citizens of non-EU/EEA countries must obtain a visa or a residence permit before entering Finland. Usually, when working at the University of Helsinki a residence permit needs to be applied for if the intended stay in Finland is longer than three months. A visa can be applied for shorter stays.

Researchers are typically required to apply for a researcher's residence permit. Other permit types may also be possible.

A residence permit is normally valid for one year. Extensions can be applied at the local police station. An appointment for the police needs to be booked well in advance.

FINNISH ID NUMBER
A Finnish ID number is needed for managing affairs in Finland (e.g. opening a bank account, applying for eligibility for Finnish social security system). A Finnish ID number can be obtained together with a residence permit or at police registration.

The ID number can also be obtained at the local register office. An ID number is provided there if you are registered as a permanent resident in Finland or living in Finland on a temporary basis for work. If a person comes to work in Finland temporarily, the ID number may also be obtained from the tax office.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS
Certain documents are required for completing the immigration formalities. Make sure to prepare the documents in advance. For more information on the necessary documents, consult the responsible authorities.

An Invitation Letter from the University of Helsinki is requested by the Finnish Immigration Service when applying for a residence permit and for other registration formalities.

LOCAL REGISTRATION
Local register offices are local population register authorities. At your local register office you can register as a resident at a municipality in Finland and submit a notification of move.

By law, a foreigner is required to register at the local register office if he or she resides in Finland for at least one year.

You can take care of the following things at the local register office:

REGISTERING A MUNICIPALITY OF RESIDENCE
In order to get a municipality of residence in Finland, you must move to Finland permanently. If you have a municipality of residence in Finland you are usually entitled to the services provided by this municipality. Municipal services include for example public health care and day care for children.

NOTIFICATION OF MOVE
People moving to Finland either temporarily or permanently are obligated to submit a change of address notification. It informs the state authorities about the change in your address. Mail is also directed to the correct address when the notification of move is done.

You can also obtain a Finnish ID number from the local register office.

SOCIAL SECURITY, HEALTH CARE AND INSURANCES

PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE
It is advisable to have an insurance either from the home country or an international insurance company that covers the length of the stay or at least the first year in Finland.

The Student Insurance Program SIP is an insurance package that has been negotiated by the Finnish universities to sufficiently cover students and researchers arriving in Finland. It is available to all students and researchers coming to study or work at Finnish universities.

FINNISH SOCIAL SECURITY AND PUBLIC HEALTH CARE FOR FOREIGNERS
Permanent residents of Finland are entitled to Finnish public health care. The local register office and KELA (the Finnish social security institution) assess whether the residency in Finland is permanent. The assessment requires registration at the local register office and an application for the KELA system. As a rule, a move to Finland is considered to be permanent by the local register office if one stays in Finland for at least one year (EU/EEA citizens) or two years (non-EU citizens).

KELA assesses whether one is entitled to coverage by the Finnish social security system. Eligibility for KELA needs to be applied for upon relocation. The KELA system can be accessed on the basis of work or permanent residency. Eligibility to and coverage by the Finnish social security system depends on the reason and length of stay, for instance.

EU citizens and those eligible are recommended to obtain a European Health Insurance Card from their country of residence.

www.kela.fi/web/en

MELA SECURITY FOR GRANT RESEARCHERS
Scholars receiving a grant or a scholarship from Finland for a period exceeding 4 months are obligated to seek coverage under a special insurance meant for grant recipients (MYEL). This insurance is provided by an institution called the Farmers’ Social Insurance Institution (MELA). It covers pension insurance, occupational accident insurance and group life insurance.

www.mela.fi/en/

MEDICINES AND VACCINATIONS
Finnish pharmacies are well stocked with all the basic medicines. Some medicines that are available in stores and supermarkets in other countries - such as Aspirin and various ointments - are only available in pharmacies in Finland. Some medicine is only available by prescription. Contact a pharmacy or a health care facility for more information.

Finland is one of Europe's safest countries in terms of health and hygiene. Vaccinations or inoculations are rarely required before arrival.

www.kela.fi/web/en

PENSION
In Finland pensions of university employees are covered by two state pension systems, depending on the employee's year of birth. The amount of earnings-related pension is affected by the working career, earnings and the pension accrual rate, which varies for people of different ages.

Pensions are funded through contributions from the employees and the employer. The employer deducts the employee's pension contribution from the gross salary in connection with the payment of the salary and pays it along with the employer contribution to the pension company.

The amount of the contributions is based on a fixed percentage of the employee's gross salary.

Grant recipients pay a pension contribution from their grant if they are eligible for MYEL coverage by MELA.

Finnish earnings related pension is paid out to all eligible employees regardless of their place of residence. The pension contributions are not returned right as a person moves away from Finland. When the person retires, the pension can be claimed from the pension fund.

TAXATION

OBLIGATION TO PAY TAXES
Taxation of foreign researchers and other university staff in Finland varies according to how long they are staying in the country. The obligation to pay taxes also depends on the source of funding of the research.

Foreign citizens working for a Finnish employer are usually required to pay taxes in Finland. Researchers working on a grant may be required to pay taxes if the grant exceeds a certain yearly amount.

In addition to Finnish legislation, international tax treaties may affect your taxation in Finland.

TAX CARD AND LEVEL OF TAXATION
In order to pay the right amount of taxes from the salary a tax card needs to be obtained and delivered to the University salary administration. Without a tax card a 60% tax is initially withheld from the salary. A tax card can be obtained from the In to Finland service point or a local tax office branch.

The level of taxation of an employee arriving in Finland from abroad varies according to the length and funding of the stay in Finland. In most cases progressive taxation is applied to persons who reside in Finland for more than six months. If a person works in Finland for less than six months, usually a 95% tax at source is deducted from the salary. However, progressive taxation is also possible upon request.

EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTIONS
Social security and pension contributions are always deducted from salaries in addition to taxes. These fees are automatically reduced from the salary and they are obligatory by law. In 2016 the employee contributions are the following:

- ELMA (Employee pension contr.), 5.7%, for over 53-year-olds 7.2%*
- Unemployment contribution 1.15%*

*according to data available 12/2015

Calculating your final income

Calculating procedure

Example: salary 3444e/month

1. Calculate the amount of your monthly taxes
tax percentage: 23% = 792.12e
2. Calculate the amount of your monthly employee contributions
ELMA (pension contr.) = 196.3e
Unemployment contribution= 39.606 e
3. Deduct these sums from your monthly salary
3444 - 792.12 - 196.3 - 39.606 = 2421.132 e
4. The amount of money paid to your account each month
2421.132 e

ACCOMMODATION

UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI HOUSING AND ACCOMMODATION
The University of Helsinki offers housing for staff members arriving from abroad. International Staff Services recommends new employees consider this option and check availability from University of Helsinki Housing and Accommodation Services.

IMMIGRATION AND REGISTRATION

We advise family members moving to Finland to go through the immigration formalities listed in the beginning of this guide.

If a residence permit is required it is advisable to apply for the researcher’s and family member’s permits at the same time.

Registration of family members at the local register office requires documentation on family ties. It is essential to prepare these documents before arrival in Finland. The documents need to be available or translated to Finnish, English or Swedish and must be legalised by an Apostille certificate or Grand Legalisation procedure.

The following documents may be required:
- Legalised and translated marriage certificate and divorce certificates
- Legalised and translated birth certificates for children
- For unmarried couples: lease or other documentation proving length of cohabitation

FAMILY'S HEALTH

Finland offers excellent health care services for families. Finland is, for example, internationally known for its child health clinic system offering services for young children. Health care services are offered both by the public and the private sector.

It is important to plan the insurance coverage for family members before arrival in Finland. The coverage can be funded in several ways.

Family members taking up permanent residence in Finland can be fully covered by the Finnish social security system (Kela) and be entitled to use the public health care services. Inclusion in the system can be applied for after family’s arrival in Finland.

It is advisable to get a private insurance from the country of residence or an international insurance company. It is also advisable to get a European Health Insurance Card for each family member, if applicable. Family members are not entitled to occupational health care services provided for the employees of the University of Helsinki.

Medical records, prescriptions and immunisation records of family members should be collected before arrival.

DAY CARE AND SCHOOL

Finland has an internationally renowned, award-winning education system. There is a variety of facilities offering high-quality education for children on the Helsinki capital area.

Day care is available to all children under school age in day care centers and family day care. There is a selection of both public and private providers of day care on the capital area. Day care in foreign languages is mainly organized by private providers. Children aged six can attend pre-school teaching, which is arranged in day care centers and comprehensive schools. The costs for day care can partly be reimbursed if the child lives in Finland permanently.

Schooling is offered to all children both in public and private schools. Basic education at comprehensive school usually starts when children are seven years old and continues until they are 16 years old. While instruction in foreign languages is mainly offered by private schools, some Helsinki city schools offer instruction in a foreign language as well. Children must be enrolled into school by their parents. Public compulsory schooling is provided free of charge.

After receiving basic education in comprehensive school children attend upper secondary school. From there they can continue to vocational or high schools. School and day care enrolment are recommended to be completed well in advance.

EMPLOYMENT OF SPOUSE

The Finnish labour market needs new employees on many fields. Finding employment in Finland requires a certain spirit of enterprise, an active approach and an open mind. Work opportunities are advertised through the public employment services as well recruitment agencies, sites listing job offerings and social media channels. Many jobs are so-called hidden jobs that are not announced for application publicly.

It is important to make sure that the permit matters are in order for employment in Finland. EU/EEA nationals have the right to work in Finland. For citizens of other countries the right to work depends on the type of the residence permit.

Public employment services www.te-palvelut.fi

FURTHER STUDY AND RECREATION

Finland offers a range of educational and recreational opportunities for the whole family.

Degree studies are provided by high schools, vocational institutes, universities and universities of applied sciences. For degree studies an application procedure needs to be followed. Degree studies are normally free of charge.

There are many options also for non-degree studies. Providers of these studies include open universities or open universities of applied sciences, summer universities and adult education centers. Studies are usually subject to a fee. Finnish language courses are offered by a range of providers.

The Helsinki area has a vivid cultural scene, plenty of sports opportunities and excellent library services available for everyone. Nature is always nearby in Finland. Helsinki offers a variety of outdoor areas throughout the city, both inland and beside the sea. The City of Helsinki also owns several recreational areas in neighbouring municipalities.
