

Juha Janhunen

University of Helsinki, Finland

On writing grammars: Selected notes and observations

In this talk I will survey some aspects concerning the history of grammar writing and then move on to discussing the parameters that grammars have, or should have. The parameters to be discussed include, among others, choice of object of description, choice of metalanguage, theory base, order of presentation, chronological frame, choice of terminology, and amount of extralinguistic information.